NATUREVIEW

REVIEWS AND COMMENT FROM NATURE JOURNALS

▲ The changing marketplace of bioinformatics. Saviotti, P. P., de Looze, M. -A., Michelland, S. & Catherine, D. Nature Biotechnology December (2000).

This Feature article discusses how information technology companies are exploiting opportunities in the bioinformatics sector.

▲ Expressing what's on vour mind.

Lockhart, D. J. & Barlow, C. Nature Reviews Neuroscience January (2001).

A Perspective on the use of DNA microarrays in neuroscience.

• The splice of life: alternative splicing and neurological disease. Dredge, B. K., Polydorides, A. D. & Darnell, R. B. Nature Reviews Neuroscience January (2001).

▼ Feedback control of intercellular signalling in development.
Freeman, M.
Nature 16 November (2000).

• Surfing the p53 network.

Vogelstein, B., Lane, D. & Levine, A. J.

Nature 16 November (2000).

A News and Views Feature on the complex network of interactions incorporating the p53 tumour-suppressor gene.

• In search of the tumoursuppressor functions of BRCA1 and BRCA2.

Scully, R. & Livingston, D. M. Nature 23 November (2000).

- A crisis of trust: for science, scientists or for institutions? Millstone, E. & van Zwanenberg, P. Nature Medicine December (2000).
- Recombination: a means to an end in human cells.
 Smith. S.

Nature Genetics December (2000). A News and Views article about a mechanism of telomere maintenance that is independent of telomerase.

- ▲ Focus on cell division.

 Nature Reviews Molecular Cell
 Biology January (2001).

 Includes Reviews on asymmetric cell division and the control of cell size.
- Protein interaction maps for model organisms.
 Walhout, A. J. M. & Vidal, M.
 Nature Reviews Molecular Cell

Biology January (2001).